BACCALAUREATE SERMON

Sunday evening Reverend Evans addressed the graduating class at the M. E. Church. The following is a summary of his address:

THE QUEST FOR TRUTH
Prov. 23, 24. Buy the truth and sell it not.
Whatever your occupation, this is your chief business in life—to buy the truth. It will be your most valuable asset. It cannot be destroyed like material possessions. And altho purchased by you before you have it, no one ought to be able to deprive you of it after you have it, at any cost.
Truth comes high. Those that would possess it must pay the price for it. They acquire it in proportion to what they are willing to pay for it.
But the question propounded by Pilate to Jesus—"What is truth?"—is a legitimate one. In order to answer this as well as to appreciate its value, let us look at it in three of its salient phases, (1) The truth in existence.
(2) The truth in knowledge. (3) The truth in life.

The truth in existence. This has to do with fact. Truth is fundamental in the constitution of things. It exists independent of the human mind.
There was as much in the world when Abraham and Homer lived as there is today.

Like some other items of knowledge that are intuitive and yet improvable the basic nature of truth is axiomatic.
There is reality to correspond with all phenomena. A form, a face, language proceeding from the lips we see, convince us through the channels of sight and sound that a real person is before us, altho we cannot prove it.
The wonderful creations of human intellect, the modern cathedral or palace; the ancient pyramid or excavated city are expressions of the reality that underlies them—the mind of a man.
Likewise the world of nature, the flower, the tree, the mountain, the heavens at midnight, radiant with the light of countless suns, is a succession of phenomena. These marvelous creations do not exist in and by themselves any more than the creations of man's intellect. They are language—the language of God. He is the fundamental reality, basal truth.

The truth in knowledge—This has to do with intellect. The truth is knowable. And to know it is your highest. You ought to covet a grasp of the whole field of knowledge; not because you can attain it, for you can not, but because such an ambition will bring you nearer to its attainment than if you do not covet. And you cannot steal it or receive it as a gift. "You must pay the price in self-restraint, toil, study, brain-sweat. In the search you are sure to find some error with it; but you must not let this deter you any more than the minor ceases mining because he cannot avoid digging some dirt with the gold.
You must search out the truth about God. You ought to be at least philosopher enough and inquisitive enough to trace the wonderful and accumulating discoveries of modern science back to the Great Cause, and for yourself attempt an interpretation of His essence and His ways of working.

You must search out the truth about man, his origin, mission, destiny, relation to his Creator. In this pursuit the study of universal history, portraying a terrible tragedy, but with an increasingly beautiful romance, is both interesting and instructive. Especially the Bible, which has been the inspiration and mine of instruction for most of the great modern world leaders ought to be to you a familiar book. It speaks authoritatively on certain subjects of immense importance in the study of man.

The truth in life.
This has to do with character. It is therefore the most important phase of the subject. Fourth is; It is knowable; It is livable. In order really to possess it you must live it.
You may know all that books and fields and laboratories can teach you;
and yet with your life deny it all.
To possess the truth you must be and remain noble. To this end you must trample upon all the baser desires of your nature. Convinced that you are God's child, doing God's work; in God's world; you must realize your own dignity as a man, a woman, and refuse to throw yourself away in the pursuit of strenuous folly. Thus you shall become a wealthy man in yourself with a wealth in values infinitely greater than that of a Carnegie or a Rockefeller.

FLAG DAY.

Tomorrow is Flag Day. The proclamation as issued by the Governor was published in The New North last week. The Governor suggests that citizens observe the day by having flags displayed from residences as well as places of business.

DEATHS.

Amos Conant, aged 91, died at the home of his daughter Mrs. Frank Bennet, the latter part of the week.
The funeral occurred Sunday. F. A.
Hildebrand taking charge and Interment took place at Forest Home.

The triplets of Mr. and Mrs. Rayford have died.

RHINELANDER GRADUATE.

This office is in receipt of an invitation to the Commencement exercises of Minnesota State University.
Among this list of graduates of the law department is the name of Ray Wilson, a graduate of Rhinelander High School, class 1903. That year the class consisted of nine members.
Ray was the only boy in the class.
During his four years at Minneapolis, Ray has made a fine record at the university and at the same time won a splendid reputation for his push and business ability.
During the school year, he has done much local work for the Madison Asbestos Co., and in his vacations he has traveled on the road for the same company. The firm wishes to retain his services at a fine salary but he has decided to take a position with Howard Robbins formerly of this city now at Spokane.

VILAS-MAHONEY.

Mr. William Vilas and Miss Lillian Mahoney were united in marriage at the Catholic Church yesterday morning at 8 o'clock, at which time nuptial high mass was celebrated by Father Hoeflinger. The wedding was an invitation one and the church was filled by friends who witnessed the ceremony. The wedding march was played by the bride's sister and the party marched to the altar where flowers and palms were in abundance. The bride was accompanied by Miss Hannah McMahon while Mr. Louis Petey acted as best man. The party left the church midst showers of rice and old shoes.

The bride is well known and has a host of friends in the city. "Te groom is also well known and is an employee of the paper mill.

THE PALACE OF SWEETS

The Palace of Sweets owned by Geo.
Nagel is one of the most attractive places in the city. The store has been entirely redecorated. A beautiful new steel ceiling has been put in place and the side walls papered to harmonize with the ceiling. The ice cream parlor has been refurnished with new tables and chairs including those especially for children.

A new sanitary soda fountain has been added. In fact, the entire store is complete and tastefully arranged. You will find this attractive place at 26
Brown St., telephone No. 42-1.

NEW CLOTHING STORE.

The New Clothing Store, located in the building formerly occupied by the Fredrickson shoe store is rapidly being made ready for its big opening day, June 15. A large stock of goods has been purchased and goods are arriving daily and are being cared for by Nathan Ginsberg, who has charge of the New Store. Mr. Ginsberg comes from Clintonville and has had a broad experience in the clothing business.

REVISED FISH LAW.

Among the game laws revised by the legislature this winter was one changing the closed season on game fish. The closed season for pike, picker-el and brook trout will be from March 1 to May 10. On all other game fish, including bass, the closed season will be from March 1 to June 10.

SYNOPSIS OF CLASS PLAY.

Tonight is the senior play, Jedediah Jackson Judkins. A synopsis of which is given below. Tomorrow evening will be Commencement exercises which will complete the work of the class of 1907.

SYNOPSIS OF PROGRAMME.

Act. I. Jedediah, a Hoosier farmer, comes to the city as a delegate to a convention. Takes up his abode with the Cranmeres. News of the robbery of Windum & Teck's jewelry store. Herbert, the engraver suspected. DeCamp gets the lay of the land, and Hardin visits the house of the Cranmeres. The American eagle meets the British lion.
Act. II. Prentiss, as a book agent, displays some skill in the use of the English language. Jedediah signs a doubtful petition. Herbert arrested for forgery and burglary. "Tis a foul conspiracy. I am innocent." Act. III. In the police station. Two upon one and he handcuffed Jedediah.
In spite of his position, lends a hand.
"The keeper shot? A new accusation against me? I cannot face it." A scene in the home of the Cranmeres where in several individuals talk, including Windum and parrot.
Act. IV. In a mine's cabin.
Familiar characters. In unfamiliar dress. Crackey makes a crack shot.
"The Redskins! The Redskins!" "I am done for! I must see him before I die." At the home of the Cran-meres. The return. Happy termination.

ODD FELLOWS' CONVENTION AT SUPERIOR.

A large number of people throughout the state gathered at Superior last week to attend the convention of Odd Fellows held there. The following delegates from this city were in attendance: Charles Morrill Jr., Anna Anderson and Anna Piek.

The cordial invitation from Marquette was accepted and the next convention will be held at that place the 1st Tuesday in June, 1908.

The new Grand Master chosen is J.
D. Beck of Madison and the President of the Rebekah Assembly is Mrs. Allie Barrett of Baraboo. In the list of committees, is Mrs. Louise Cleary of this city, on legislation. John Brown of Antigo was chosen Grand Representative. Mr. Brown is an old friend of the editor of The New North and is well known by the members of I.
O. G. F. this city, whose meetings he often attends.

TEN POLITICAL COMMANDMENTS.

[Rabbi Blecher's "Ten Political Commandments," as read in his address at Faneuil hall, Boston, at the New Voters' festival, April 7, 1907.
It was a noble sight to see a hall full of young men, mostly of foreign-born parentage, as this leader among the Hebrew people of Boston gave them these words of warning and call to duty.]

1. Thou shalt love thy country, which redeemed thee from tyranny and bondage.
2. Thou shalt not worship any political idols, nor bow down to them nor serve them, for their iniquity will be visited upon thy children unto the third and fourth generations.
3. Thou shalt not take the name of patriotism in vain, nor use it as a cloak to hide thy selfish motives.
4. Remember the day of election to keep it holy.
5. Honor the sanctity of the ballot that the days of the republic may be prolonged.
6. Thou shalt not kill the spirit of freedom by neglecting to exercise thy prerogative as a freeman.
7. Thou shalt not adulterate the purity of civic life by entering politics for gain.
7. Thou shalt not encourage public servants to steal by thy indifference.
9. Thou shalt not let greed for political rewards bear false witness against thy patriotism.
10. Thou shalt not covet a public office which thou art not fit to fill.

BASE BALL AT ANTIGO.

Our boys played the best ball of the season and they say they were entitled to the game by a score of 5 to 4, but the umpire who had up a bet of ten dollars was unfair as soon as the score stood in favor of Rhinelander.

The boys do not believe it was the wish of the citizens of Antigo to steal the game, but the ridiculous decisions of the umpire did the work.
Rhinelander got 12 hits off the Antigo pitcher, Mohr, and in return Antigo five off Stemman.

When we get a team here we try to get them the best hotel accommodations and treat them royally.

From the work of our team with Antigo last Sunday, we are sure the game at the Fair Grounds next Sunday will be one of the best of the season.

JUNE ACCORDING TO HICKS.

Hicks, the St. Louis weather man has fixed up a program for June that is attractive to people who hate pleasant weather. June, he says is to be more freakish than May or April. During this month of roses "phenominal perturbations will reach some sort of crisis in earth and sky."
The initial five days' storm period begun on the 2nd and will continue over Friday the 7th, if Hicks knows his business; and he hit off last month. "There is to be a marked rise in temperature, falling barometer and severe thunderstorms, cloud bursts and "possible tornadoes." Then after a two days' rest the performance will open up again next Sunday continuing for three-excessive heat, extreme humidity, with violent thunder and wind storms.

Four days, beginning a week from Saturday, will be one of the "decisive turmoil" periods of the month—low barometer, excessive humidity and heat violent and dangerous, storms in which destructive winds are going to "reverse all their usual directions" probably blowing up and down. Local "rain deluges" will come about the 22d, and the grand wind up will begin on or about the 27th, with rain wind and thunder for three or four days. "Taking it all in, Hicks says June will be about as lively a month as one might wish to see—with earth quakes in the earthquake regions, volcanic disturbances, sun spots auroral displays, and such heat and humidity and thunder storms will make the growing time that the farmers have been waiting for; so there will be a good side to the month.

CITIZENS' LEAGUE.

June 8, 1907.
The meeting was called to order at 8:30 p. m., and members were present.
Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

The President then announced the standing committees as given in The New North of May 23rd.

The reports of the standing committees were received.

The chairman of the committee on new industries, streets and public grounds, school and education, and waterways reported informally without making any recommendations to the League.

The report of the committee on law
and order is as follows:

We recommend, in order that certain moral abuses be stopped as far as possible, that a committee be appointed to wait on the Mayor and inform him that it is the desire of the members of this League that saloon keepers be required to observe the ordinance in relation to the sale of liquor to minors and drunkards, and that all screens be removed from their places of business.

Also to see that the curfew ordinance and ordinance in regard to bathing within the city limits be strictly enforced. Respectfully submitted,

F. H. JOHNSON,
MAYOR STAYLTON,
A. P. RICKMIRE,
Committee.

The above report was adopted unanimously, and the committee on law and order was requested to inform the Mayor of the action of the League.

Mr. S. S. Miller, chairman of the committee on membership, reported progress, and that the League now has seventy-seven members.

A committee consisting of C. P.
Crosby, Arthur Taylor and A. P.
Rickmire was appointed and empowered to authorize expenditures for the purposes of the League and to audit bills.

The motion was made and carried that the chairman of each standing committee be requested to notify the President if anything of importance was to be reported by his committee at the next regular meeting, so that the citizens could be informed of the same through the local papers.

It was moved and carried that a special meeting be held Thursday evening, the 13th, inst., at 8:00 p. m. at the court house to discuss the purchase of the water works by the city, and that the Mayor and Common Council, and all citizens of Rhineland be invited to attend this meeting.

It was moved and carried that the next regular meeting, which falls on the 4th day of July, be adjourned to July 5th at 8:00 p. m., at the usual place.

The motion to adjourn was then made and carried.

FRED MOORE, Secretary.

"WHAT SHALL WE EAT."

Every day the same old question.
"What shall we eat for breakfast, for luncheon, for dinner?" assails with monotonous regularity the patient housewife who seeks to provide good living for the family in agreeable variety at a moderate cost. The Chicago Record Herald has gone far toward solving the problem by devoting space to three departments on this all important topic in its various issues. "Meals For a Day," which appears daily, gives the daily menu and the necessary recipes. Housewives everywhere are invited to participate in the contest and weekly prizes are offered for the best menu. Marion Harland's Sunday page gives weekly a list of selected recipes which if clipped and pasted in a scrapbook make a most valuable collection. "Martha's Management," which appears on Monday, is filled with good advice and helpful hints to the housewife.

MURDERERS' SCHEME NOW IS INSANITY

The Practice Might Almost Be Classed as a Fine Art--How It Has Been Successfully Done, with Legal Assistance, in Some Celebrated New York Cases.

New York. — "It's a shame! Here I was ready to go to trial with my murder case this morning, and that fool of a client of mine had to go to work and get a shave and a haircut. Now I can't have him tried for two months. He's got to wait until the vacation season is over. I'll make sure that he does not shave any more while I have anything to do with his defense."

I was coming out of the criminal court building when I ran into a lawyer, an old acquaintance—he is one of the best-known criminal lawyers in this country—who appeared to me as though he was about mad enough to

The bluecoat and his wife did not get along well. Some said it was a case of "too much mother-in-law." Whether that be true or not, Ennis shot and killed his wife, and then shot his mother-in-law, who recovered. When arrested Ennis shammed suicidal mania. He was put on trial, nevertheless. His defense was insanity. He was convicted. Throughout the entire trial the fellow sat beside his counsel as though in a trance. His lawyer pleaded and pleaded with great earnestness. Alameda swore the policeman was surely mad.

But the district attorney won his point. The jury found the policeman guilty of murder in the first degree. There was nothing else for the judge to do than to sentence the man to be executed at Sing Sing. Ennis heard the sentence and acted as though he did not know what was happening. They took him to Sing Sing. He was weak and broken in health. He was placed in one of the steel cages in the death house and there the man sat, in almost utter silence, for nearly two years, while his case was being passed upon by the highest court in the state.

During all those days and months while Ennis was confined in the death house he never spoke to one of the other condemned men. Although they tried their best to entertain the convicted policeman he never spoke to them. When the warden and the keepers attempted to draw him into a conversation Ennis would mumble something that they could not understand. He would sit all day and long into the night, always in a crouching position. When once a week they would open his cell door and tell him to step outside that he might be bathed and shaved, he would huddle about as if he was a wild beast. But never a word did he utter. At first he refused to take food. After a while he ate, but sparingly only. He wasted away terribly.

The Chloroform Test.

One day there came word from Alameda that the court of appeals had confirmed the sentence and conviction of the lower court, and that the death sentence must be carried out according to law. Warden Johnson was puzzled.

"If we can only get his mind off the subject," said the doctors. "If he is shamming we can find it out only by getting his mind off the subject."

"They carried Ennis out of the death house and up to the operating room in the hospital inside of the prison walls. There they placed him on an operating table and the chloroform was administered. They gave him a small and Connaughton. "You fakir! We found you out!"

The moment Ennis realized that he had been caught "with the goods on," as "Big Bill" Doherty would have said had he been on hand, he turned as white as a sheet. Nobody realized better than he did that his end was at hand.

"Gentlemen," he stammered, "yes, you have found me out. But you would not have done so had you not put me under chloroform. Now I'm glad it's over and I am ready to take my medicine. You cannot imagine what I have suffered during all these long months while I was trying to 'beat the chair.' Now I am glad the end is at hand."

I well remember the case of Martin Thorne, the barber, who, together with Augustus Neck, a midwife, killed William Goldensuppe, a rubber in a Turkish bath. William F. Howe, the veteran criminal lawyer, was his senior counsel.

There was nobody at that time who understood more about putting up the right kind of defense than did the veteran Howe. I remember going to him just as the trial was about to start and asking him what kind of a defense Thorne would put up.

"Ah, my boy," said Mr. Howe to me, "I don't know myself. That is, it all depends upon circumstances. In the first place we" (the always spoke of his client as we) "did not commit the crime. Therefore, you see—and quite readily too—that we are innocent of this most awful charge that a grand jury, guided by a misinformed district attorney, has declared against us."

A short time after the commencement of the trial Mrs. Neck announced that she would turn state's evidence. She confessed all and swore that Thorne had committed the murder.

I was assigned that night to notify Mr. Howe of what had occurred. I found him in an up-town hotel. He had retired when the bellboy took up my card. I was asked to "Come right in, my boy."

I told him that the woman in the case had confessed that Thorne had killed Goldensuppe and that she had helped the man to dispose of the body of the victim.

"What are you going to do now about the defense?" I inquired.

"I have it! I have it!" all at once shouted Mr. Howe, looking as happy as a schoolboy with a new toy. "What do you think of it?"

"The only thing left you is insanity," I suggested.

"And that is where you are wrong," replied Mr. Howe. "I told you I had dose only, just enough to make him unconscious for a short while. As the chloroform was beginning to wear off Dr. Irvine suddenly pushed the man off the operating table so that he struck the floor with a thud. This awakened the "crazy cop" in a jiffy.

"Get up and hurry over to that door!" commanded Mr. Connaughton, who was present during the experiment.

Ennis walked to the door, just as you or I would, in a natural way. He had forgotten all about the hobbling and the crouching—and that was his undoing.

"Oh, you fakir!" yelled the experts

It. Here is our new defense. I know it all the while. Now, please, don't think that I just manufactured it. Why, of course, we know all the time that this was the body of Goldensuppe, although the head was missing. We know, too, who killed the man. We did not. She did. Yes, she did. All we had to do with the case was to help her, out of pure gallantry, to dispose of the body. That is, no crime. She did the killing, nothing else. That is our defense!"

Thorne went on the witness stand and told the story just as Mr. Howe had outlined it to me. But the jury did not believe him, and convicted the barber of murder in the first degree.

Joy, pain, fatigue, thirst, ill usage, sympathy, old age, approaching death and portliness have all drawn tears from animals or at least driven them to a tearful state—Little Folks.

Sex of the National Bird.

It has been declared by a lecturer to the Mothers' club of New York city that the official eagle of this country, as shown in authorized designs, is a female. The proof offered is the white tuft of feathers on head and breast. The female is larger and stronger than the male. Most persons imagine the metaphorical bird as a male.

Ornithologists say that the conventional design does not indicate the sex. But the law is plain. In the description of the seal accepted by the continental congress, June 20, 1782, the masculine pronoun "he" is used three times with reference to the bird—Youth's Companion.

Some Animals Really Weep.

Animals are said to weep from various causes. Grief at the loss of young ones and mates makes the dog, horse, elephant, rat, bear, deer, monkey, donkey, mule, cattle, camel and giraffe shed tears.

Sobbing has been proved in the parrot, though this may be mimicry. The stag at bay, and the caged rat have been seen to weep, while monkeys have wept when pitted or from terror.

they are fine specimens of manhood and womanhood, having much the same characteristics as the native Hawaiians.

They worship the sun and snakes, and it is a peculiar fact that the snakes seem to reciprocate this kindly feeling on the part of the black people, for they have never been known to bite them. When I killed a boa constrictor once it cost me several bags of tobacco to square myself with a local chief.

Whenever a native kills a lion or a leopard he has to cut off the head and tail and present them to the chief of the tribe. This enables every tribal potentate to have several lion heads as head-dresses.

The food is mostly confined to game and maize. Funerals are long-drawn-out journeys, numerous accompanied, over the land to a far-away place.

I once met one in the moonlight. The train of mourners were singing in deep mournful tones and the body was being borne in a blanket between two sticks.

"What's the matter this morning?" I inquired.

"Nothing the matter," he replied, "only here I was ready for the trial of that man I was assigned to look after on the charge of homicide, and that fool has spoiled my defense."

The lawyer explained. The case was one of cold-blooded murder. It was a homicide committed while in the act of committing burglary.

"My man was insane at the time of the shooting," said the attorney. The district attorney laughed when he heard about the kind of defense that was to be offered.

Two months later the prisoner was brought to court again. What a change! I was unable to identify the man. His hair was long and looked as though a comb had never passed through it. There was a two months' growth of reddish beard on his face. His eyes were stary. Altogether the defendant appeared more like a monster than a human being.

The Russ That Worked.

"No use trying that, he's not right in his upper story," said the lawyer to the assistant district attorney in charge. The prosecutor seemed to

BRIDE COSTS TWO OXEN.

Zulu Warriors Have as Many as They Can Buy, Up to Six.

Every grown-up native of Zululand who has the 12 oxen necessary to buy them, has six wives.

Zululand occupies an area about the size of California and sustains about 150,000 population. When the women are about 12 years of age they are purchased as wives at two oxen apiece.

There is no ceremony and no minister; the man who is charmed by the beauty of the maiden pays the price and gets the wife. Of course, not every man has more than one wife; only the more prosperous men and the chiefs are able to maintain six.

In that country there are no laws and no judges. Primitive methods and customs prevail, and the highest authority is the local chief.

The people live near to nature. The dress of the men is confined to a girde about the waist, and that of the women is not noticeable. Physically

State Capital Notes

Weekly Budget Gathered by Our Special Correspondent at Madison.

Madison.—Getting near the close of the session legislation of importance is making its appearance and measures of far-reaching import are introduced as committee bills. This was true when a drastic measure affecting all express company rates now in force in Wisconsin was introduced by the senate state affairs committee, the measure being presented by Senator Smith. The measure provides that all express rates in effect on May 1, 1907, shall be reduced 33 1-3 per cent. Treble damages are prescribed and a penalty of from $100 to $1,000 fixed for violations. The bill went to the transportation committee for consideration and hearings.

Express companies were included in the list of carriers placed under the operation of the railway rate commission law passed at the session two years ago, but up to this time the commission has not taken up the subject of excessive rates charged by them. It is understood, however, that for some months plans have been in progress by members of the commission to go into an investigation of express company rates to ascertain if relief could not be granted for conditions claimed to be excessive and burdensome as to charges made.

Senate Passes Negligence Bill.

The senate concurred in the comparative negligence bill relating to the liability of railway companies for injuries to its employees. The bill as it passed is one of the most drastic employee bills ever enacted into law and changes the doctrine of contributory negligence in existence in Wisconsin for so many years by the establishment of the doctrine of comparative negligence.

There was opposition to the bill in the committee, some of the members of the judiciary believing that the measure went too far and in cases brought under its provisions a test would demonstrate that the railroad employees would not be satisfied with it. There was no opposition to the measure on the floor of the senate, and it will now be returned to the assembly for concurrence in the amendments offered.

Utility Bill in House.

In the house Chairman E. W. Le Roy of the committee on transportation reported in the substitute for the public utility state regulation bill with the recommendation that it be adopted and passed. The substitute will be on the calendar for consideration next Wednesday. It differs in some important respects from the original bill and contains some of the changes recommended by the representatives of the corporations affected, who appeared before the committee at the hearings last week. One of the changes is that telephone companies will be allowed to compete and will not be required to get permission from the state railroad commission to make extensions and improvements.

Position of Municipalities.

Another is that municipalities will be put on the same basis as private corporations with respect to the establishment of new heating, lighting, power and water plants. That is, municipalities will have to get permission from the state railroad commission before they can establish public utility plants of their own. Another change is that corporations will not be compelled to bear the expense of appeals by the state commission unless the complaints of unreasonable rates or service filed against them are sustained. Otherwise the state will bear the expense of valuing the utilities. Still another change provides that utilities may use funds set aside for depreciation purposes for extension and improvements. Under the substitute bill the details of the accounting systems to be used are left to the discretion of the state commission. There are a large number of changes in phraseology, but none of them is said to be of much importance.

Discuss Milwaukee Measure.

There was a spirited discussion of the Roehr bill, changing the number of members of the common council of the city of Milwaukee from two from each ward to one from a ward and 12 from the city at large. The bill was on the calendar to be ordered to third reading. Assemblyman C. D. Thompson of Milwaukee, second in command, opposed the bill and offered an amendment providing simply for an increase in the number of aldermen from each ward, but increasing the salary from $100 to $500. He was opposed, he said, to electing aldermen from the city at large because they did not bring them near enough to the people, and they might forget their accountability to the people.

Child Labor Bill Passes House.

The child labor bill, which has created a great deal of discussion both in committee rooms and on the floor of the house this session, was passed and now goes to the senate for concurrence. It is much more stringent and sweeping than the present statute.

Irvine Repairs Fences.

Sergeant-at-Arms Irvine of the assembly is home looking after his fences in the true sense of the word. He had some long stretches of rail fence on his Clark county farm burnt up a few days ago and is home holding the gaps.

No Use of Rival's Terminals.

The senate committee on transportation decided to recommend for indefinite postponement the bill giving the state railroad commission authority to compel a railroad company to grant the use of its terminal facilities to another company. The decision of the committee was unanimous. The bill was understood to be intended to enable the Wisconsin Central road company to use the terminal facilities of the Milwaukee and Northwestern road in Milwaukee.

Capital Park Bill Reported.

The committee on capital and grounds has reported the bill for additional grounds for the new capital park for passage coupled with the recommendation that the measure go to the committee on claims for further consideration. Although the bill carries no direct appropriation, it was deemed best by the committee to have the members on claims give it full consideration and discussion. Many of the members take so favorable a view of the proposition that it is believed the bill will be passed.

Flag Day Is Selected.

Gov. Davidson has signed a proclamation designating June 14 as flag day. The governor's proclamation is as follows:

"Flag day celebrating the anniversary of the day when congress adopted the design of our flag is becoming more and more a patriotic national event. In accordance with the growing tendency of this celebration and to further the patriotic effect, I, James O. Davidson, governor of the state of Wisconsin, designate June 14, 1907, as flag day, and direct that our national emblem be displayed from the capitol and other state buildings on that day, and I recommend that the citizens of the state observe the day by exhibiting the flag on their homes and places of business, and that they individually and through their various organizations give appropriate recognition to the day. In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the state of Wisconsin to be affixed. Done at the capitol, in the city of Madison, this 24th day of May, in the year of our Lord, 1907."

"By Secretary of State James A. Frear."

Aims at the Cigarette Habit.

If a bill passed by the lower house of the legislature becomes a law, and there is every indication that it will, it will effectively stop cigarette smoking by schoolboys and other youths in this state. The bill makes it an offense punishable by a fine or imprisonment in the county jail for a person under 16 years of age to smoke tobacco in any form in public or for anyone to allow such persons to smoke on premises occupied by him.

Report Coemployee Bill.

The senate judiciary committee will report two coemployee bills for passage, the subject matter of the Darley bill relating to the liability of railway companies for injuries to employees having been practically determined upon. This bill, it is understood, establishes the doctrine of comparative negligence in this state as it relates to railway employees. The committee will also report for passage the Sanborn bill covering employees generally, which provides that the assumption of risk is no bar to the recovery of damages.

Money for Insurance and Capital.

The bill appropriating money to pay the expenses of the two legislative committees investigating the insurance companies and the university passed with only one dissenting vote, that of Senator Hudnall. The appropriation bill for the new capitol carrying $600,000 annually for nine years was passed, Senators Hustung, Hazelwood and Smith voting in opposition to the measure.

Taft to Address Students.

Secretary of War William H. Taft has telegraphed to President Woodrow Wilson of the University of Wisconsin his acceptance of an invitation to address the university students on June 10. In addition to the 3,000 students and members of the faculty, it is anticipated that the state officers, members of the legislature and Madison citizens will also be present in numbers.

New State Oil Inspector.

The appointment of E. L. Tracy as state oil inspector, made by Gov. Davidson some three weeks ago, was unanimously confirmed by the senate. Tracy takes the place of E. E. Mills, of Burlington, who has officiated as oil inspector dating from Gov. LaFollette's first term.

Woman's Death Kills Mother.

Kenosha.—Mrs. Harriet Bain, aged 79 years, widow of the late Edward Bain, millionaire manufacturer, died in this city Friday. Two weeks ago Mrs. Francis C. Newell, the eldest daughter of Mrs. Bain, died suddenly in New York and the shock from the daughter's death brought on an attack of apoplexy.

Killed by Flying Chain.

Delaunoy.—Adelbert O. Wilkins, general manager of the Wisconsin Nursery company, 61 years old, was killed while watching several men who were pulling stumps. A chain broke and the lever of the stump puller flew up, striking Wilkins on the side of his head with terrific force.

Elope at Three Score and Ten.

Shelbygan.—Thomas Taylor, aged 72, and Mrs. William Brookshire, aged 70, pioneers at Waldo, this county, eloped to a neighboring village and were married. Decoration day. The celebration was turned into a charity art when they returned.

Fire Chief Injured.

Kenosha.—Henry Isermann, chief of the Kenosha fire department, was kicked by a horse. His nose was broken and his head and face terribly bruised, and his arms and legs bruised.

Killed by Fall from Tree.

Shelbygan.—August Radloff, employed at the C. H. Hols Coal company docks, was instantly killed in a fall from a trestle work 65 feet high. In falling he struck the dock and fell into the river, where the life saving crew found him.

Badly Burned.

Waupaca.—Laura Fredericksen, aged 11 years, was badly burned while lighting a gasoline stove. Some clothes were hanging above the stove, and a blaze shot up, setting them afire.

SCHULTZ CASE GOES OVER

State Supreme Court Orders Record in Milwaukee Case Returned to Municipal Judge for Amendment.

Madison.—By ordering the record returned to the Milwaukee municipal court for amendment, the supreme court has put the case of P. F. Schultz, 37 Milwaukee, over until next fall. Some time ago District Attorney Mc Govern served notice on the attorneys for the defendant that he would ask the supreme court to permit Judge Brazee's certificate to be amended so that some of the testimony in the case could be included in the record. This motion was made and opposed by Attorney J. L. O'Connor, representing Schultz. Thereupon the court granted the motion, but ordered the record returned to the municipal court, which carries the case over the present term and to next fall. The order issued by the court is as follows:

"State of Wisconsin, plaintiff, vs. Frank F. Schultz, defendant: The above entitled matter coming on for argument in this court and the state of Wisconsin, plaintiff, having made a motion to amend the certificate of the municipal judge, Milwaukee county, heretofore filed in this court, and the defendant by his counsel opposing the same, it is ordered that the record herein be returned to the municipal court of Milwaukee county for a proper certificate or for such further action in said court herein as the parties may be advised."

The supreme court adjourned until 2:30 p. m. on June 19, at which time opinions will be handed down and the members of the graduating class of the university law school admitted to practice.

DIETZ LEAVES HIS FORT.

Goes to Town Shopping and Gives Message of Defiance to Officials.

Chippewa Falls.—After separation from the world for two years John Dietz, the Cameron dam outlaw, and his son Clarence, caused a sensation at Chippewa Falls by appearing among the residents, saying they "were unharmed and had come to shop." Practically every resident gathered about them and Dietz said he was "not afraid of sheriff possees or United States marshals and would use his rifle to protect himself and family."

They remained in Chippewa for two hours and said they would make frequent visits hereafter. They talked freely with citizens and members of a sheriff's posse organized to capture Dietz, who maintained that he was sane and had plenty of rifles and ammunition at home.

Dietz has held Cameron dam in the Thornapple river for two years against various lumber companies and state officers.

Uses Her Slipper on Man.

Shoemaker.—Charles Bender, a shoemaker, was fined five dollars and costs in the police court here for attacking Miss Marion Maxwell. But for the beating he got in return for his attack, the court said, he would have been fined a larger sum. It developed that Miss Maxwell, an actress, beat him with the heel of her dainty slipper until he fled in terror. He has been in bed most of the time since the fracas. The shoemaker objected to Miss Maxwell sitting on his front porch and attempted to move her therefrom. He was decidedly worsted.

Given $1,500 for a Ducking.

Washburn.—Ida and Olivia Carlson have been awarded $1,500 damages for an involuntary ducking in Lake Superior. The two girls were standing on the gang plank of the steamer Eastern, owned by the Booth Packing company, last fall when the wind swung the boat away from the dock, leaving them in the water. They sued the company for $10,000 damages, claiming that they were not warned that they were in danger.

Many Ball Players are now complaining "plus legs." Freddy Parment, of Boston, is the latest diamond artist to join the parlor grand brigade. Jimmy Collins, Doc Casey, Harry Lunn, Sam Morten, Jimmy Jackson and Charley Hickman all have plano legs. Plano legs are defined as a surplus of weight and muscular tissue on the lower limbs. Ball players dread the first indication of plano legs. Heavy, cumbersome legs, slow up a ball tosser on the bases and mitigate against his efficiency in the field. Compulsion on the grand circuit is not a good sign. Many of the great players of the past were relegated to the minors because they lost their speed. Long, lithe leg muscles of the greyhound type are much to be preferred to the stocky striders of the Roger Bresnahan kind. Plano legs have to be tuned up. Only a long sweating and boiling-out process in the spring will give the players the sprint to stay with the speedy base runners.

The interest in baseball games in Iowa may be judged somewhat by the extravagant manner in which patrons of the game buy pools on the results. It has come to be almost a mania with all classes of people taking an interest in the game. Hundreds of pools are sold every day a game is played, each pool running from 1 to 25. The holder of the number representing the total of the score wins the pool. An interesting mix-up in the pool selling was caused recently by an error in the report of the Burlington game at Quincy. By mistake it was reported 12 to 1, and the holders of the number 13 were paid off by the pool makers. Later in the evening the correct score of 11 to 1 was posted, and consolation was refused among the pool sellers who were finally obliged to pay the holders of number 12. The loss to the pool sellers was considerable.

Says Taylor, the Chicago National pitcher: "As a manager I think Griffith is prone to expect too much from his pitchers. He forgets, according to my figuring, that other pitchers haven't the head and control he possesses."

Frank Hemphill.

Hemphill was seldom in shape. At the beginning of the season he followed rigid training rules, with the result that he was playing better ball than any outfielder in the league. For some time, however, Hemphill has not been in shape to play a single game, and his efforts to play were pitiful. A season in a jorkwater organization may bring him to his senses and if he reforms he will probably be seen in a Milwaukee uniform again next season.

E. A. LOWELL, EDITOR AND MANAGER

The editor of The New North during his recent inspections of Superior Normal, was impressed with the frank open-hearted manner in which teachers and pupils were treated by the President and the general air of happiness and good feeling which prevailed in consequence.

Wisconsin has created the office of the inspector of rural schools. The activities of this officer will serve to increase the extent of state supervision of the schools of rural communities and to elevate the rural school problem into its proper place in the educational economy of the state by developing a greater local interest and responsibility in the work and efficiency of the district school.—Exchange.

Yes, Wisconsin legislature created the office two years ago and State Supt. Cary appointed W. L. Wood to fill the office. Since that time Mr. Wood has come in contact with a large number of school officers of the rural schools and has aroused their interest in school matters. Not only are they improving their local schools but they are becoming closer connected with the great work of the State Superintendent's office and helping there for needed advice and help, and they are getting it too. Never before was the State Superintendent's office in such close touch with all classes of schools as at present.

The water works question is now before the people of this city and will be voted upon June 27. We ought to get as much enlightenment on the subject as possible before voting. It was not thought advisable to take up the matter at the Municipal League last Thursday evening but the meeting was adjourned until this evening to make it the only subject for discussion. All interested citizens are invited to be present and give information or ask questions to get the matter before the voters in an effective way. As near as we can get at the facts, the following is a brief history of our water works plant:

On June 23, 1890, the Town Board of the Town of Pelican granted to Moffett, Hodgins & Clark a franchise authorizing them to construct and operate a water plant in the village of Rhinelander and to furnish the said village and the inhabitants thereof, water for a period of 30 years. The Town Board at this time consisted of Chas. Chaffee, Alex. McKee and Chas. Wilson. The ordinance granting said franchise also contained a contract between the grantees therein and the Town of Pelican, by the terms of which the former agreed to lay not less than five miles and two thousand feet of water mains, to equip said mains with seventy hydrants and to furnish water for fire protection through same; the town on its part agreeing to pay therefor an annual rental of $3000.00 during the thirty years covered by said franchise. The town board was further vested with power to require the grantees to extend such water mains and to equip same with hydrants, to be not less than twelve per mile of extension, and agreed to pay for such extensions during the balance of the period of 30 years an annual rental of $40.00 for each hydrant so installed additional to the original seventy.

On August 19, 1890, a corporation known as the Rhinelander Water Co. was formed and all the interests of Moffett, Hodgins & Clark in said franchise immediately assigned to the corporation, by whom the construction and operation of the plant was then carried on.

On Sept. 1, 1890, The Rhinelander Water Co. issued bonds to the amount of $100,000.00, to draw interest at the rate of 6 per cent and due and payable Sept. 1, 1910, and secured the same by a trust deed (in effect a mortgage), drawn to cover the entire water system as then constructed and all extensions and additions that might thereafter be made, together with all rentals and income of the plant. Bonds to the amount of $85,000.00, and later as extensions were made to said plant, bonds to the amount of $18,000 additional were floated, the balance of the $100,000.00 authorized being left unsold in the hands of the trustee, where they still remain. The bonded indebtedness of the water plant at the present time, therefore, amounts to $83,000, which is quite equally distributed among forty or more holders living in the east.

In January, 1892, The Rhinelander Water Co. assigned to the trustee of the bond holders (The Holland Trust Co.), all hydrant rentals then due or to become due under the contract with the Town of Pelican, such rentals to be applied on payments of interest on bonds secured by plant.

Shortly thereafter all stock in the Rhinelander Water Co. was assigned to Chas. Chaffee, Brown Bros., B. R. Lewis, John Barnes and E. B. Calkins, by whom the plant was operated under the corporate organization until the fall of 1893, at which time the Town of Pelican voted to purchase the plant of said parties for the sum of $5,000.00. The plant at the time of this transaction was mortgaged for $83,000 and was about one half its present size.

The ownership and operation of the water plant was then assumed by the Town of Pelican until the incorporation of the city of Rhinelander which resulted in the substitution of the city in place of the town as to matters concerning the water plant. The city is at present and has been ever since taking over the plant paying 4 per cent interest on the $83,000 of indebtedness represented by said bonds. A committee of the bond holders makes an offer to the city which is printed in another column of this paper.

CRUSOE'S Dept. Store

New Goods Nothing Old

There is a constant stream of new goods flowing to the store and from the best markets—every week, every day brings the fabrics that are newest, the up-to-date notions, fads and fancies that are popular. No old or "gone by" merchandise is to be seen here at any time; the modern methods on which the store is conducted necessitates frequent "clean ups" and keeps the stocks in the different departments ever fresh and new. No great retail business is built up now a days by high prices, and fully recognizing this fact from the start, this store, with its ever increasing patronage and its past and present great success, is a fine example of the power of moderate prices constantly maintained.

SUMMER GOODS

The great thin goods sale we are having this week is the talk of the town. At no time have sheer fabrics been so cheap, and not again this season we believe can you get them at anywhere near these prices. The assortments are not as yet badly broken and some good selections may hold out till Saturday, but come at once is the best thing to do.

Every Man His Own Doctor.

The average man cannot afford to employ a physician for every slight ailment or injury that may occur in his family, nor can he afford to neglect them, as so slight an injury as the scratch of a pin has been known to cause the loss of a limb. Hence every man must from necessity be his own doctor for this class of ailments. Chamberlain's Remedies have been in the market for many years and enjoy a good reputation. Chamberlain's Cough, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for bowel complaints.

Chamberlain's Pain Balm, (an antiseptic liniment) for cuts, bruises, burns, sprains, swellings, lame back and rheumatic pains.

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets for constipation, biliousness and stomach troubles.

Chamberlain's salve for diseases of the skin.

One bottle of each of these five preparations costs but $1.25. For sale by Hinman & Co.

Dr. Liebig, the famous German Chemist, says that beer is "liquid bread." By this he means that beer is a food—full of life-giving, health-sustaining qualities. The value of beer as a food is becoming well known, and it is now used by many who have hitherto looked upon it as a beverage only.

Pabst Blue Ribbon

The Beer of Quality

is the most nourishing of all beers—because it contains every particle of the healthful, wholesome nutriment of the malt and all the tonic properties of the hops from which it is made.

The Pabst Eight-Day Malting Process follows nature by slowly transforming the substance of the barley into pure, nutritious food. The quality of the materials used and the Pabst method of brewing make Pabst Blue Ribbon not only a pure beer, but a healthful, tissue-building, muscle-building, life-giving, "liquid bread." Drink Pabst Blue Ribbon, and you put health and strength into your system.

When ordering beer, ask for Pabst Blue Ribbon.

Made by Pabst at Milwaukee
And bottled only at the Brewery.

(He Fired the Stick.)

"I have fired the walking-stick I've carried over 40 years, on account of a sore that resisted every kind of treatment, until I tried Bucklen's Arnica Salve; that has healed the sore and made me a happy man," writes John Garrett, of North Mills, N. C. Guaranteed for Piles, Burns, etc., by J. J. Reardon, druggist. 25c.
